

OHIO SOCIETY OF GASTROENTEROLOGY
NURSES AND ASSOCIATED
45TH Regional Educational Course
David H. Ponitz Sinclair Center
Dayton, Ohio
March 12th, 2005

OBJECTIVES FOR MAIN PROGRAM

1. Describe the characteristics of propofol
2. Discuss guidelines for nurses administering propofol
3. Discuss post upper gastrointestinal and biliary tract surgical anatomy
4. Describe at least one technique used to accomplish ERCP in the post surgical patient
5. Define Sump Syndrome
6. Discuss at least two aspects of Nuclear Medicine bleeding scan
7. Discuss arteriography and embolization of patients with GI bleed
8. Define TIPSS procedure
9. Discuss indications for Percutaneous Transhepatic Cholangiography & Drainage
10. Describe Obstructive Sleep Apnea Syndrome
11. Describe at least one other illness that is associated with Obstructive Sleep Apnea Syndrome
12. Discuss a plan of care for the patient with Obstructive Sleep Apnea Syndrome undergoing endoscopy
13. Discuss the pathophysiology of pancreatitis
14. Identify the anatomical variances associated with the pancreatic system
15. List several treatment regimens for patients with pancreatitis
16. Discuss the outcome of patients with pancreatitis
17. Identify risk factors for Hepatitis C
18. Discuss methods for diagnosing Hepatitis C
19. List treatment options for Hepatitis
20. Discuss side effects of medications used to treat Hepatitis
21. Discuss the use of Argon Plasma Coagulation in the GI Lab
22. List safety measures associated with using APC Therapy
23. Discuss ways that this therapy may be used in the future